TAKE ROOT IN AMARILLO | JOB UP

Job Up is like a dating site for talent and employers. Take Root In Amarillo | Job Up allows employers to engage not just active job seekers but passive job seekers who would like to move up in their careers. 85% of the workforce are passive job seekers, people who would take a new position if a better one came along. Job Up allows employers to have a quality conversation with talent that are interested in their company and learn which role the job seeker may be best fit to apply for. Job Up is all the talent you won't find on a job board. Join for free now: jobupinamarillo.com!

UNCOVER AMARILLO: INTERN EXPERIENCE

Many interns from out of town struggle to get acclimated and make friends outside of the company they're interning for. So we decided to get them together and show off our community. By meeting up with outside interns, experiencing different parts of Amarillo, and connecting with the Elevate Amarillo young professionals, our future workforce begins to put down roots right here. Even students who have grown up in the area experience Amarillo in a new light with a fresh, positive perspective!

BUILD YOUR TALENT TOOLBOX

These events are designed for HR professionals and business owners to recruit, retain, and engage both their current and future workforce. Topics include creating a work culture, engaging high school students, hiring right the first time, and recruiting to the area.

OTHER AREA RESOURCES

Workforce Solutions Panhandle is an outstanding resource to help hire employees as well as train through the TWC Skills Development Fund. Amarillo College can assist with technical training needs and customized curriculum. Panhandle Community Partnership is a dual resource for both your organization to amplify your workforce/education efforts as well as for your employees to better their careers by getting on a path toward completing a quality credential. You can highlight your industry's career pathways and job opportunities through Panhandle Community Partnership. Another resource for talent retention and leadership development is Elevate Amarillo. Having your young professionals stay rooted in our community is critical to the future of our businesses but also the future of the Texas Panhandle.
